Report :

The Department of Commerce organized an Industrial Visit to Nisty Plantation, Coorg, to gain practical exposure to plantation management and agro-based operations. The management team explained the plantation's major activities, including cultivation of coffee and spices, irrigation methods, soil care, and harvesting processes. Students also learned about organic farming practices, quality control measures, and the use of technology in improving productivity. Interactive discussions helped them understand the challenges and opportunities in plantation-based industries. Overall, the visit was informative and enhanced the students' understanding of sustainable agriculture and agribusiness practices. The experience contributed significantly to their academic and professional development.
